Mature audience

In order to escape a violent boyfriend, America (Lymari Nadal) and her daughter escape to the hustle and bustle of New York City, a far cry from their beachside Caribbean village in Puerto Rico. In her new and strange locale, America befriends a group of nannies from various ethnic backgrounds, gaining a newfound sense of purpose and family. But her dangerous past remains a constant threat, and America must confront the demons she's worked so hard to transcend in order to ensure a safe future for her daughter. Powerful and provocative, America features a medley of Latino stars, including the great Edward James Olmos, and an incredible lead performance by talented newcomer Lymari Nadal.
